January 2013

To the Connecticut General Assembly:

In accordance with Section 2-79a of the Connecticut General Statutes (CGS), the Connecticut Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations (ACIR) submits this update on statutory and regulatory mandates affecting the state's municipalities. Section 2-79a requires the ACIR to a complete compendium of such mandates every four years and issue supplements in the intervening years.

The ACIR issued its most recent Compendium in 2010 and this Supplement joins the those of 2011 and 2012. The 2013 supplement contains new mandates adopted in 2012 and updates mandates that were reduced or repealed that year. Further information about specific legislation is available in State Mandates on Municipalities: Actions in 2012.

State statutory direction of municipal responsibilities originates in the State Constitution which, in Article Tenth, establishes that the General Assembly "shall by law delegate such legislative authority as from time to time it deems appropriate to towns, cities and boroughs relative to the powers, organization and form of government of such political subdivisions."

State statutes have been used to build a mosaic of authorizations, organizational frameworks and requirements regarding local government structure and operations. It is the degree of specificity of these state requirements that generally determines the policy relationship between the state and local governments. The greater the detail of the state law, the less flexibility and policy role exists for municipalities.

Regulatory mandates are those which are contained in formal state regulations, adopted in accordance with the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act. Regulations implement specific sections of the CGS and are usually more detailed.

Regulations cannot be enacted absent statutory authority. To the best of our knowledge, the mandates in this report all have such authority although, in the past, we have found regulations where the underlying statute has been repealed. In the normal course of events, the affected state agencies will repeal regulations, but there can be a substantial period of time between the two events.

Users should be mindful that this publication is intended only as a reference guide to the regulations. If an official provides regulatory information to the public, the appropriate source for such information is the Regulations of Connecticut State Agencies. The regulations are updated numerous times a year, with the most recent update available through the Commission on Legal Publications. The state has not yet provided online access to the full set of regulations, but some agencies provide online access to their regulations.

This report is divided into two parts. Part I lists changes in statutory mandates and Part II contains the changes in the regulatory mandates. We have divided the statutory mandates into three sections to reflect three basically different types of mandates. Section A includes the general list of requirements which mandate actions on the part of municipalities; Section B includes statutes which mandate actions if a municipality chooses to perform a service which is not mandated (although it may be essentially unavoidable); and Section C includes statutes that are mandates on all entities including, but not limited to, municipalities.

Regulatory mandates are organized by title and are divided into two sections. Section A consists of regulations that implement statutes that require municipalities to take certain action. Section B consists of those regulations which specify how municipalities do certain actions, but only if they voluntarily choose to undertake a specific activity. In this case, once the activity is undertaken, the regulations contain requirements that necessitate additional municipal expenditures.

Where a 2012 bill or regulation has changed added to the mandate description for an existing statute or regulation, boldface print has been used to signify that change. Also listed separately, following each section, are those bills that created new law but are as yet uncodified.

Many of the statutes and regulations included in this report have impacts which clearly meet the statutory definition of mandate, while others have minimal effect by themselves, but cumulatively have a significant impact on either specific local officials or municipalities as a whole. A series of statutory or regulatory requirements, all of which require attention and/or action by a local official (such as a school superintendent, a registrar of voters, or a town clerk), can have the effect of defining and mandating the essence of that job, while none of the individual requirements would be considered as being significantly intrusive.

At the same time, this listing of mandates should not be considered to be a "hit list" of bad statutes and regulations. State and local officials concur that some degree of state guidelines and direction is appropriate under our system of government from both legal and practical standpoints. Legally, the state is the sovereign entity and the municipalities are creatures of the state. Practically, there are many governmental issues that are administered by local governments, but in which statewide uniformity is important. These issues can range from elections to property assessment standards to police training to aspects of education administration, and beyond. It is the determination of these issues, as well as the details of the requirements and the costs involved which have been, are now, and will continue to be the subjects of discussion and debate.

It should be noted that PA 09-179 established a Health Benefit Review Program within the Insurance Department and required that department to evaluate statutorily mandated health benefits existing or effective as of July 1, 2009. The General Assembly's Insurance and Real Estate Committee also can request that the Health Benefit Review Program analyze possible mandated health benefits proposed in a legislative session. Additional information and links to that program's reports are available at <http://www.ct.gov/cid/cwp/view.asp?a=1254&q=447304>.

MANDATE REDUCTIONS

A major concern of the Commission over the years has been mandate reduction. The 2012 General Assembly passed legislation that reduced or eliminated several state mandates on municipalities. Those changes are listed in Section IV of the ACIR's 2012 report, State Mandates on Municipalities: Actions in 2012.
