Camp Quinebaug History

Camp Quinebaug was established in 1972 to provide a unique summer camp experience for school age children with developmental disabilities in northeastern Connecticut. The camp is located on Wauregan Reservoir In Killingly on 11 acres and its waterfront is the only beach on this beautiful waterway. Swimming, boating, fishing, nature enrichment, arts and crafts, sports and games highlight the busy camp schedule. Approximately 120 campers, per season, enjoy the benefits of this 6 week, fully accessible camp environment.

The Summer Camp at Camp Quinebaug is operated by the State of Connecticut Department of Developmental Services (DDS). Each year, the camp is licensed through the CT Office of Early Childhood Division of Youth Camps. Licensed Youth Camps in CT require strict adherence to rules, regulations and requirements around ensuring the health and safety of all campers, at all times, with a high emphasis on the training and certification of staff employed by the Camp and a safe camping environment.

Camp Quinebaug Summer Camp is open to children ages four to twenty-one who are:

Information about Camp Quinebaug

Your questions answered..

How long is the summer camp at Camp Q?

Camp runs for six weeks each summer beginning on the last week of June. For registration purposes, it may be broken down into three 2-week sessions or other groupings.

How much does it cost for my child to go to Camp Q for each session?

There is no cost for eligible children to attend Camp Q.

How does the camp operate if families do not pay for their children to go to camp?

The overall operation of the camp is funded by the Department of Developmental Services by the taxpayers of the State of CT.

Operational funding of the summer camp includes the salaries of administrative, managerial and maintenance staff. The DDS also funds all camp employees who are in Director or Assistant Director positions, as well as all nursing and lifeguard positions. In addition, DDS incurs all costs of facility operations including property upkeep, utilities, maintenance and repairs.

The Helping Hands of Camp Q (HH of CQ) provides funding for eleven positions each summer. Nine positions function as camp counselors. The other two positions serve as arts & crafts and sports & nature specialty positions. The HH of CQ also provides additional supports to enrich the camp experience when possible.

What role does a child's school play in regards to their attendance at Camp Q ?

The school districts work cooperatively with families and children, as well as DDS staff, to assist in facilitating a child's attendance at Camp Q. Many children with special needs require enhanced staff when they are in school. Most children require similar staff enhancements while they are at Camp Q. Many schools subsidize this cost, as well as the cost of transportation. Without their assistance, many children would not be able to attend camp.

How does a person register a child for Camp Quinebaug if they are already eligible for DDS?

Registration for Camp Q is now done via email or US Mail (upon request) at the end of March and beginning of April.

If a child is eligible for DDS and attended camp the previous year, they will receive a registration packet via their email address from our records, or in the US mail (upon request), from DDS. The packet needs to be completed

And turned into DDS by the registration deadline

If a child has not attended camp in the past and is eligible for DDS, they should contact the DDS North Region Helpline for a registration packet by calling 1-877-437-4577 or by emailing the Helpline Case Managers at dds.nr.ifshelpline@ct.gov

What if a child has a disability, is not eligible for services from DDS, and wants to attend Camp Q?

If a child is not eligible for services from DDS and wishes to attend camp, they should consult with their school district first. Following this, they should contact the DDS Camp Administrator to begin the process of seeking special approval to attend Camp Q. Registration packets would be obtained through the school. The DDS cannot provide supervision for children not eligible for services from the agency..

Who are The Helping Hands

of Camp Q?

The Helping Hands of Camp Q (HH of CQ) are parents and caregivers of children with developmental disabilities and concerned citizens just like you! If you have a child, friend or relative attending camp, or just wish to give back to the community, the "HH of CQ" NEEDS YOU and YOU NEED the "HH of CQ". Here's how it works...

The HH of CQ sponsors and engage in fundraising activities all year long to help raise funds to pay for staff salaries at Camp Q. They fund other improvement projects at the camp as well. Without a significant amount of money and donations from you and the community, the cost for a child to attend Camp Q would be very expensive.

Every year, the HH of CQ rely on getting new members to assist with all of their fundraising activities, socials, dances, dinners, races, walks, etc. If new members do not get involved with activities to raise these funds, or assist through donations, the costs will fall solely on the families of the children who go to this special camp. Caring for a child with a disability can be costly, and many children would not be able to attend without assistance.

Please donate your time, your talent, your resources— anything— to keep this valuable resource to families in the Quiet Corner and beyond! So much good can come out of just giving a little!
